

Healthcare

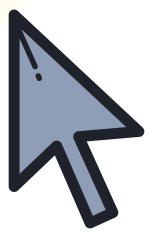

Apprenticeships

Did you know that 93 per cent of young people in the UK have a social networking profile? Social media is an essential tool when you are specifically targeting young people

59.7% of young people found their job through the NHS Jobs website

http://

Employing young people can have significant benefits for NHS organisations.

Attracting Young people to the NHS

Do you have a youth committee, a youth board or a group of young people? Peer to peer engagement can be a useful tool 90 per cent of 16–24 year olds own a smartphone. Are your job adverts easily accessible on a smartphone?

Young people can bring a range of new skills and ideas and can help you ensure you have a talented, well-equipped future workforce that is representative of the local community

NHS Employers' ThinkFuture programme has further information about how employers in the NHS are being supported to bring more young people into the workforce.