

The Apprenticeship Levy

01

The Apprenticeship Levy is an amount paid at a rate of 0.5% of an employer's annual pay bill.

Employers have to pay the Apprenticeship Levy each month if they:

- have an annual pay bill of more than £3 million
- are connected to any companies or charities for Employment Allowance purposes and have a combined annual pay bill of more than £3 million

03

Levy payers access their funds through their apprenticeship service accounts. They can manage funds using the apprenticeship service and spend it on training and assessing their apprentices.

04

For smaller employers apprenticeships are funded via co-investment or by levy transfer. For co-investment, both the employer and the government pay the training provider for apprenticeship training – 5% from the employer and 95% from the Government from April 2019.

05

The other option is Levy Transfer. Transfer funds can pay for the costs of training and assessment and can be accessed quickly and efficiently. A smaller employer, who does not pay the apprenticeship levy, can reserve funds in the 'finance' section of their apprenticeship service account.
